Making a Witches Ball for protection

A protection witch ball is a decorative object traditionally used for warding off evil spirits and negative energy. It is typically a hollow glass sphere filled with various herbs, symbols, and other magical ingredients. The specific contents of the ball vary depending on the practitioner's intention and tradition. Witch balls are usually hung in windows or doorways, where they are said to act as a barrier against harmful energies. They can also be placed on altars or carried for personal protection.

To make your own witches ball you will need…

- 1 fillable bauble – preferably made of glass
- Dried basil
- Thyme
- Lavender
- Cinnamon Stick
- Clear quartz crystal

You may also like to include a charm & some ribbons etc. A funnel can really help when creating a witches ball but if you don't have one a paper cone with openings on both end also works.

Steps

1. Cleanse your bauble using your favoured method – personally when doing this craft I find that cleansing with an incense stick to be most effective.
2. We are now going to hold the ball in our hands and fill it with the intention of protection… visualise yourself, your home & family being engulfed with glorious protection.
3. Start by filling the bottom of your bauble with Basil. You can place your bauble onto an egg cup holder to steady it.
4. Then you can add your thyme, lavender, cinnamon stick & finally your clear quartz crystal.
5. Replace the top and add your charm and decorate however you wish.
